WELCOME TO ENGLISH TOUCH: YOUR ULTIMATE LANGUAGE SCHOOL

Every one of us comes across the term "English Communication Skills" so many times in daily life as used chiefly in the context of jobs or employment. Whether it's a corporate job or business activity, you can generally hear big talks happening around.

But when it comes to managing one's learning and training, English communication skills are very often overlooked. Especially in India and other Asian countries, people still talk about English only as a language without giving much value or serious thought to the ground reality and the importance of acquiring some fair level of English language skills. English communication skills like most of the other skills sound too familiar to us and as a result, we generally take them for granted. Naturally, all our attention tends to gravitate to preparing for our mainstream subjects like Science, Maths, Commerce, Business Management, etc: working harder, investing more and more time in and hoping for greater results. But have you ever asked yourself 'why that alone is not working for you'?

Let's dig a little deeper into this. It's very obvious that the English language has the most ideal vehicle for all types of talents to achieve their desired success on their career path. Even highly qualified job aspirants feel a lack of confidence and self-esteem even after having a good command of all other subjects and skills, just due to not having a fair level of skills in English communication.

We must acknowledge, in today's world, English has become more an indispensable skill than mere a tool of communication for each and every one of us irrespective of our age, gender, religion, region, profession and the social strata we belong to. Most of the organizations have started training their staffers in English to make them able to compete.

So, the heart of the matter is we need to make the best of it now to develop both culturally and materially so that we can compete with the best in today's world of geniuses. As a matter of fact, your improved knowledge and skills in the English language will pay you back in all walks of life.

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

We lay emphasis on interacting mode of training, formulating a methodology, Communicative English & Patterns (CEP) at the English Touch. This has resulted in desired results. However, we keep doing research on the subject.

Training is defined as the systematic development of an individual's knowledge, skills and attitudes required to perform a task or job properly. It's a planned process to modify attitude, knowledge or skill behaviour through the learning experience. At the English Touch, we emphasize the learners' active involvement. Trainers keep in mind that their period of training is commensurate with the normal span of human attention. Group Discussion (GD) is used to improve learners' viewpoints. Sets of learners in GD / PI / PD at one time focus their attention on a given issue. Trainees are encouraged to interact in a group from multiple perspectives. Everybody gets a chance to share ideas and receive feedback from others from the group.

SPECIAL PRIVILEGES THAT ENGLISH BESTOWS UPON US

Oliver Wendell Holmes, one of the most widely cited justices in the history of the United States Supreme Court, a renowned professor of law at Harvard Law School and one of the most influential personalities of the time, writes “Language is the blood of the soul into which thoughts run and out of which they grow”. His line suggests that language is the only vehicle through which our thoughts are communicated and developed. Without language, we will be left only with signs and symbols to communicate with each other.

The word ‘language’ is derived from the root word ‘langue’ in French, equivalent to ‘lingua’ in Latin, which means ‘tongue’ in simple English.

No other species on earth like humans are gifted with such an extraordinary capacity to express themselves, just by pumping their lungs and rolling their tongue that animals obviously can’t. It is a language only which differentiates human beings from animal beings. In terms of George A Miller, we are all ‘in-formavores’ immersed in a communicating world.

A language is truly a vital tool for communication. It’s not only a means of communicating our thoughts and ideas but it also builds our friendships, relationships and cultural ties.

The human languages entail different sound combinations associated with arbitrary referents, organized in accordance with complex grammatical structures, which facilitate the production of an infinite number of phrases and sentences.

This incredible ability of the humans opens all possibilities like being able to think, chat, argue, discuss, declare, negotiate, question, gossip, joke, express emotions, tell stories, share information about the present, the past and the future.

The bottom line is that it’s necessary for us to have a clear and effective language which can place us above animals. Otherwise, being deficient in communication skills, humans may be characterised and recognized as animals.

Thus, keeping all this in mind, let’s take an initiative to develop and dress our thoughts which are recognized and appreciated everywhere in today’s context.

Today, English undoubtedly has become the global language of communication especially in offices, businesses and even in daily life.

It’s self-evidently true that the English language has become the most preferred language of communication not only in offices but also in our daily life—business, art, sports, education, etc. Unquestionably, we must value and honour the sentiments of our mother tongue or national languages. But we also believe we cannot overlook or underestimate the importance of the English language.

Our country India has a multilingual society wherein more than 1700 languages and dialects are spoken. According to the census of 2001, India has 122 major languages and 1599 other languages and dialects.

In general, we Indians have a 'Three Language Formula' to follow. It's a commonly known fact that every educated Indian citizen is expected to know at least three languages out of which the English language has special value and popularity. English connects us from East to West, from North to South.

So, what may be the best remedy that works for all? As a matter of fact, mastering English language skills remains the best solution to this problem that we have just talked about. Apparently, our personal, social, cultural or economic growth certainly lies in adequately skilling our generation in the English language which can enable them to gain easy and unrestricted access to all nooks and crannies of the globe.

Having a good command of English language skills, you may greatly leverage yourself in many ways:

- It enhances your employability factor and also makes you able to climb several rungs of the career or the social ladder.
- It provides a ladder to higher studies.
- This clears the way to the wealth of knowledge.
- It substantially enhances your competitiveness for overseas education and employment.
- It makes you able to easily access the wealth of science, arts and literature.
- It makes your tours and travels much easier and smoother.
- This gives you easy access to all technical education and training.
- It supports your business growth and expansion.
- This connects people residing in different parts of the globe.

In short, English language skills prove to be instrumental in bringing all your business, commercial and economic successes.

Having regard for all of the above facts and circumstances, English Touch stands by you at every step and facilitates your English language skills for your bright future and very lavish lifestyle. All you need to do is just talk to our experts on +91 7303522533.

DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

"A language is a vehicle of communication which is crucial for the well being of personal, social and cultural development of the human beings and English is evidently way ahead of the pack".

- Sanjay Jha

Dear Fellows,

English Touch made its successful debut in the year 2007. However, the deep-seated idea of running a full-fledged institute of English language skills began to germinate in my mind while I was pursuing my studies. Throughout my studies, I observed that even after being academically sound, most people were not able to perform well during the time of studies, training and particularly in competitive examinations or interviews. At times, they felt demoralized. Many were left with nothing but pangs of disappointment and inferiority complex. And, the main culprit in that crisis, of course, was their poor English communication skills.

One thing which was quite common in them was all of them had been fighting a constant battle with poor English communication skills. And most of them were forced to be in a job which was no way to their liking. That seemed too awful to me. All that forced me to ponder on the implications.

Moved by such dire consequences of poor communication skills, I started contemplating what and how could I do to help such people so that they can get a fair crack of the whip. Since then I have been trying hard to help those people have their fair share of career opportunities and socio-economic development.

With this purpose and excitement in my spirit, I pledged my best support to train a maximum number of people craving to learn English language skills. Consequently, we are just in the process of sweeping through PAN India. Our chief goal is to revolutionize the ways of English communication skills, development and disseminate them to people from all regions and all social classes, especially to those who are still economically, emotionally and socially deprived. We are bound to make a profound impact on your career and business goals. We have a great hunger for creating an equal opportunity for everyone.

At English Touch, we take immense pride and pleasure in asserting that thousands of students and aspirants have graduated from our institution. The English Touch team has not only played a significant role in improving their communication skills but also notably developed their self-esteem and overall personality. Most of our students have found remarkable placements both at home and abroad. We have offered our significant contribution to the evolvement of their lives.

English Touch has been duly registered under the Companies Act of India. It has set up several training centres in many small and big cities and the number is continuously growing. Students from all backgrounds can benefit from its training services. Its proven training methodologies are suitable for students of all ability ranges. All this develops in them both personal and professional competencies concerning their career objectives. The courses on offer range from elementary to advance. Job aspirants have particularly benefitted from these courses.

All too soon the institute's futuristic style but super-easy ways of learning made the institute the most coveted name in the area. Since its inception, it has been continually winning rave reviews not only from its students but also from many renowned academicians and critics. The institute is all committed to advancing the cause of the English language skills and making every Indian competent in English. We just live by the motto 'English For Life'.
